

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST WOOD

It Is Said He Used Cuban Funds to Promote Reciprocity while in Office.

SENATEDISTURBED

Thurber's Statement Shows Leak in War Dep't at Washington or Havana.

IT CAUSES TROUBLE

Washington, June 12.—The sensation caused by Thurber's disclosure before the Senate Cuban committee has not yet subsided. That the developments have, disconcerted the administration is shown by the fact that the president has abandoned his intention of going from West Point to Oyster Bay on a two days' visit to his family. Instead he will hasten to Washington and it is expected official statements will follow soon. Whether the best sugar Senators will have courage enough to propose an investigation into Governor Wood's expenditures is not yet evident, but the democrats would like to see it done.

Placates Democrats
Both the latter are highly pleased in proving the direct connection between the sugar trust and the Cuban reciprocity movement. Senators Aldrich and Platt, (Conn.), however, say that they have not changed their determination to press the reciprocity bill through, as the necessity of doing something for the relief of Cuba still exists despite Havemeyer's display of zeal.

Leak in War Department
Speculation is lively as to where Senator Teller obtained his copy of the voucher for General Wood's payment to Thurber and the latter's receipt. It must have come from the war department archives, either in Washington or Havana. It is believed the democrats have a private channel of information in that department and a rigid inquiry will be made to discover the source of the "leak."

REPORTS FROM DANE COUNTY ASSURE A STALWART VICTORY

Fight Hot in La Follette's Home Town, and He May Lose Delegates There—Congressman Dahle's Brother Exploits the Governor's Double-Faced Actions.

Madison, Wis., June 12.—(Special.)—There have been in recent years many hot fights for the Dane county delegation to the state convention, but there has never been one hotter or more earnest than the one which is now going on, and in which there will be no let-up until the caucuses close next Tuesday night. It is not a noisy fight. Little or no loud talking is being done on either side, but an active, personal canvass is being made by both sides, and there are few voters in the county who will not be seen by the time caucuses open.

The stalwarts, who have established a local bureau, with R. C. Vernon, a former LaFollette supporter, and R. R. Frazier, who was Gov. Scofield's executive clerk, as managers, are finding that Senator Whitehead has many supporters for governor in Dane county. They freely claim that they will carry this city, and that they will make large inroads into LaFollette's strength in the country districts. If the governor should lose Dane county, it would of course be a blow from which he could hardly recover, and no stone is being left unturned in the effort to accomplish that end. The LaFollette men are waking up to the fact that they are in danger at home, and are hustling as never before to save the county. Whether they will succeed cannot be predicted with any certainty until the caucuses are held.

An effective weapon has just been brought into the fight by the stalwarts in the shape of a letter written by Henry E. L. Dahle, brother of Congressman Herman B. Dahle, protesting against the "treachery" of Gov. LaFollette in turning his brother down and promising his support to W. C. Lelsch of Columbia county, and calling on Norwegians to resent this slur upon their countryman. As the Governor's strength in Dane county lies largely in the Norwegian vote, this letter, which is being sent out all over the county is expected to produce results. The Governor's friends deny that he has taken any hand in the Congressional fight, but they have not succeeded in dispelling the belief that there has been a deal between the LaFollette and Lelsch men for the Dane and Columbia county vote. The letter is as follows:

Mr. Horeb, Wis., June 9, 1902.
Dear Sir:—I have received so many letters and inquiries from the Norwegian citizens of Dane county and elsewhere as to whether it is a fact that Governor LaFollette had betrayed my brother, Congressman Herman B. Dahle, I find myself compelled to answer these inquiries by means of this circular letter.

It is not necessary for me to say that my brother has always given Mr. LaFollette loyal support in all his undertakings since both attended the state university. It was at the personal solicitation of Governor LaFollette that my brother became a candidate for congress in this district. This solicitation of the governor became so strong that Herman

Second; and the rest of the county (All in the western part) comprises the Third.

Madison Doubtful
The Madison district has 13 votes and it is the doubtful one. The towns of Burke, Blooming Grove and Rutland are considered fairly certain for LaFollette. The fighting ground is the city of Madison. It is within the city limits that the party faction opposed to the governor, during these last days is massing its workers. The Stalwarts will make the most desperate fight to carry this assembly district in order to go into the state with the shout that the governor's own home delegates will oppose him. LaFollette supporters claim the district is safe for the governor.

All that is required is that the voters who favor the governor all register their sentiments at the caucus next Tuesday. Madison republicans will rally, from the motive of civic pride, to the endorsement of their citizen-candidate for the governorship. Madison has always sustained Robert M. LaFollette and will do it again next Tuesday.

State Journal June 11: Vote For LaFollette Delegates. Madison must express itself in the governorship contest during the hours from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, June 17. That is the time set for the Republican caucuses in this city. Delegates will be elected to the county convention which meets here July 2. Dane county's 37 votes in the state convention will not vote as a unit but by assembly districts, of which there are three in the county; Madison with the towns of Burke, Blooming Grove, Dunn and Rutland comprises the first, the two tiers of towns on the east side together with Windsor and Vienna, comprise the

GOLF MATCH POSTPONED

Will Play Rockford June 27, Instead Of Saturday.

Secretary Baker, of the St. Louis Golf club this morning received a telephone message from Secretary Trille of the Rockford Country club stating that it would suit them much better if the game scheduled for Saturday was postponed until about the 27th. They stated that two large weddings were slated for the fourteenth and as most of the ladies of the club were interested in them they would not be able to bring as large a delegation as they wished. This arrangement was satisfactory to the St. Louis club as the Mystic Workers hold their picnic in this city on Saturday and most of the team players would be busy. It will also give the club a chance to get the course in better shape than it is at the present time. Secretary Baker also received today an invitation for a team match with Kenosha on the 20th. The home team have a game on with Racine on the 21st and if arrangements can be made Kenosha's invitation will be accepted. No doubt if Janesville gives Kenosha the first game they will play a return game with Janesville later in the season.

The Kenosha club will hold a dance in their club house on the evening of the 20th and are anxious to have the St. Louis team there.

FUNNY THINGS WILL BE DOING

The State Meet of Traveling Men at Madison Will Be Very Interesting

Madison, Wis., June 12.—(Special.)—Tomorrow the traveling men, or the large body of them who belong to the United Commercial Order of Travelers, will take possession of Madison, and until Saturday night the city will be theirs. The Grand Council of the order opens its fifth annual session at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the senate chamber. There are sixty delegates to the council, but 500 visitors are expected, as the meeting takes the nature of a general outing for the knights of the grip, many of whom will bring their wives along, and there will be other "doings" besides the business session of the council.

A big parade of traveling men will be the feature tomorrow afternoon. Claunder's band, which will accompany the Milwaukee delegation, will lead the parade, and "Chet" Constantine, who travels for a Milwaukee grocery house will be marshal. All of the marchers will be in uniform. In the evening the reception, ball and banquet tendered by the local council will occur in the assembly chamber. Saturday morning the ladies will be taken on a carriage drive about the city, and a steamboat ride on Lake Mendota in the afternoon will wind up the festivities.

The election of officers occurs on Saturday morning. G. J. Crocker of Eau Claire, now grand junior counselor, will probably be elected grand counselor, to succeed M. J. Hemens of Green Bay.

The trials before the American court of the postal fraud cases resulted in the sentencing of Neely, of W. H. Reeves to ten years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $35,610 and of Estes G. Rathbone to ten years' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $35,324.

DISCUSSES MUCH NEEDED TAXATION

Governor La Follette Puzzled the Members of the 1901 Legislature.

HE MIXED THEM UP

Differed with Both Tax Commissions as To Railway Problems.

THE TENTH LETTER

Railway taxation with figures comparing the Governor's inaugural message, figures from the tax commission's report and the true returns of the railways, makes the subject of Senator Whitehead's tenth letter on the much-mooted tax problem. Treated in a fair and exact way the senator lets the figures tell their own story without comment. He quotes freely from the Governor's message and the facts to the readers.

He shows that the report of the first tax commission desired to levy the tax on the basis of the gross earnings and that the second commission recommended the license system the Governor's message was still further away. To this fact he attributes the failure of the last legislature to pass some specific tax measure that would have done away with these difficulties existing. The letter follows:

Janesville, Wis., June 11, 1902.

To The Gazette:

The first Tax Commission, as I have shown, stated in their report that their work had led them to the conclusion that "all the corporations which were taxed on a basis of earnings, or on a full-value basis, paid relatively less taxes than other persons and less than they would pay on a basis of value," but for the reasons, as stated in their report, that the members of the Commission had "been more intent upon preparing a report which would serve as a basis for intelligent and judicious action on the part of the Legislature, than in trying to elaborate any theory which might or might not meet legislative approval;" that "public sentiment must be educated to a clearer and truer view of the province and limitations of taxation, before it can be expected to advance in the direction of genuine tax reform;" that "the time and means at their disposal were insufficient to enable them to elaborate any general or comprehensive plan for revising and improving the whole taxing system of the state;" that "in dealing with this question of the taxation of corporations the commission had labored under peculiar difficulties;" that "the members of the commission had only been able to give a limited portion of their time to this work;" that they "had not had the authority or the means to make any satisfactory investigation in respect to the values of the properties of the quasi-public corporations of the state;" and that "the vast extent and importance of the subject and the practical difficulties which stand in the way of any far-reaching reform, can hardly be appreciated by those who have not made a special study of the subject." The Commission did not feel prepared either to recommend that the system of taxation of corporations be changed to a method of assessment by the state board, or the specific rates of taxation which should be fixed. If the present method should be continued.

The present Tax Commission, as I have shown, recommended that the gross percentage system of taxing railroads be continued "until it has been thoroughly tested, after so fixing the rates that the tax on gross earnings is placed upon a basis equitable in comparison with the tax on other property."

The position of the Commission upon the question as to which system should have the preference was pretty clearly defined in the citations from their report in the letter next preceding this. The commissioners were very conservative as to method, but as to rate, they recommended an increase on the basis of which the railroads would have paid in 1899 some $600,000 more than they did pay.

In his inaugural message, the Governor stated, as I showed in my last letter, that the Legislature would be called upon to determine whether the ad valorem method of taxation of railroads should be adopted or whether the percentage system should be continued. That I may do the Governor exact justice and retain his words in this discussion, I quote a few sentences: "The strong objection to a license fee upon gross earnings is that it allows the corporations to make their own report of the amount of its gross earnings, or in other words, to assess itself. It is but just to note in this connection that, as appears by the above tables (the tables shown at the end of my third letter) the railway companies have been fairer than the average individual, who, as to the great mass of personal property, assess themselves; the percentage of assessors of market value of the railways, being 20:5:100 as against 12:9:100 for all other personal property. In no case, however, should the assessment be left to the taxpayer, whether corporation or individual."

GRADUATES GIVE SPLENDID THESIS

THE SECOND PROGRAM OF COM- MENCEMENT A SUCCESS.

Eighteen Members of the Class of 1902 Address a Magnificent Audience at the High School Building—Stereopticon Views and Excellent Music Add to the Interest.

Another immense audience packed itself into the high school gymnasium last evening to listen to the second evening of commencement exercises by members of the class of 1902. As on the preceding night, the program began promptly at 8 o'clock, being preceded by the presentation of the medal and the silver spoon given by the Daughters of the American Revolution to the eighth grade pupils winning the highest standing in United States history for the year. Supt. H. C. Buell made the presentation very happily, the medal being won by James O'Donnell of the Washington school and the spoon by Cora Holt, of the Adams school.

The commencement exercises began with an orchestral selection by the talented Soverhill sisters, little Wilma leading with the violin, Edith playing the mandolin, Lalla, the banjo and Cora, the guitar. Miss Mable Woodbury, their instructor, presided at the piano. The young musicians played in excellent time and with exquisite harmony and feeling, "The Bridal Rose Overture" declining to respond to an encore, which was very insistent.

With the exception of one number, each of the graduates, who appeared last evening, presented a thesis and in every instance the work showed careful preparation. The thesis, more than any other exercise, is distinctly representative of the work which has actually been done by the students in the school.

Interesting theses presented last evening was "Froebel and His Work." Grace Ryan was the pleasing speaker who told in an interesting manner of the growth of the Kindergarten movement from 1820 when Froebel started the first school in Germany. It is only since 1890 that the growth of the movement has been rapid in the United States and people are just beginning to realize the importance of wise training for children when they are at the most responsive age. The kindergarten means the wise direction of self activity, the strengthening of good impulses and the repression of bad ones and it is the most important educational departure of the past century.

An especially interesting thesis was given prettily by Edith L. Litts on "The Cause of Color." Experiments were introduced to prove that the different colors were produced by the difference in the waves of light. A succession of these waves of different lengths produces the spectrum, the rainbow being the familiar example of the spectrum on a large scale. By means of different colored lights thrown on a white screen and of colored discs, Miss Litts gave some interesting illustrations of the fact that the color of an object is not in the object itself but in the light which falls on it.

Miss Bertha M. Hogan chose "History of the Drama" for her well-written thesis. Her delivery was excellent and her line of thought entertaining. She traced the drama from its rise in Greece and its fall with Rome to England after it had lain dormant for centuries. It first appeared in the twelfth century in the mystery and miracle plays which are still represented in the passion play at Oberammergau. Until the 16th century all plays were of a religious nature, the first comedy being "Ralph Royster Doyster." The culmination of dramatic art was reached in Shakespeare's plays because he was true to life and his genius will be contemporary with the minds of the generations for centuries to come.

One of the ablest and best theses was the one on "Crystallography," given by H. Dean Bemis, the natural ease and self possession of the speaker adding much to the value of his thought. The object of his thesis was the proof of the abundance and utility of the crystalline form. Crystals of any substance may be obtained by dissolving it in water or alcohol and evaporating the mixture or by fusing it and allowing it to cool. The forms of crystals are interesting for they are endless in variety, although no substance ever crystallizes in more than one way. The chief value of crystallography is its use in determining substances by means of its crystals. The lantern illustrations of the thesis were most interesting showing the formation of crystals when different solutions of salts were poured on the slides.

Song By A Graduate
The commencement number given by Lotta C. Bemis was a vocal solo. She sang, "What the Chimney Says," a selection in which the rich quality of her musical voice was heard advantageously. Her piano accompaniment was played by Miss Elva Crawford.

The next thesis on "The Nature and Importance of Wave Motion," was excellently given by Luella Gaarder and contained much interesting information. Diagrams were thrown on the curtain by the stereopticon, showing that while all waves have a forward movement the particles of the substance through which they pass merely move to and fro. Illustrations were also shown of transverse waves, such as water, light and heat and the longitudinal waves as the wave in a field of grain and sound waves.

Poets and Plants
A well-written thesis on "Virgil and His Works," was next presented very capably by Florence M. Kingman, who held the close attention of her audience. She analyzed the motives and underlying sentiments in Virgil's masterpieces, the Georgics and the Aeneid, and stated that few poets have equalled Virgil in surrounding common things with poetic beauty. No other poet ever exerted such an influence on succeeding poets, this influence having been acknowledged gratefully by such writers as Dante, Spencer and Milton.

The thesis on "Parasitic Plants" by Lulu Howard was an exceptionally interesting one both because of the subject matter which it contained and of the excellent manner in which it was presented. Striking illustrations of parasitism are found among the flowering plants. The dodder sucks its life from the willow tree, the fungi such as smut and rust, being destitute of starch, must obtain it from grain. Lantern slides were used to show some of these parasites, an interesting description of the manner in which they obtain their food was given and statistics presented to show the loss on grain through these parasitic plants.

Graceful Gymnastics
By far the most interesting feature of the evening was given in connection with the theses on gymnastics, presented by Ella Sutherland and Louise Merrill. Miss Sutherland presented the subject of "Practical Gymnastics," setting forth forcefully the value of physical culture to education, giving facts to show how necessary a sound body is to a sound mind and making a strong plea for regular instruction in physical exercises in every grade of the public schools. Miss Sutherland's thesis was illustrated by herself and eight classmates, the young ladies being dressed in gymnasium suits. Her thesis was preceded by a series of exercises in Swedish gymnastics and followed by energizing and devitalizing exercises.

Later on the program Miss Merrill presented her beautifully written thesis on "Aesthetic Gymnastics." Her plea was against hiding the soul in an awkward, unresponsive body. The study of the beautiful is inductive to the cultivation of the higher emotions. The body should be trained to express beautifully and freely the exalted moods of the soul. The orientals even give spiritual meaning to the acts of respiration. Miss Merrill's thesis was followed by reproductions of saloons and other forms of ancient worship given gracefully by the class of young ladies. They wore Greek costumes and when the exercises closed with a series of figures groupings the audience fairly went wild with delight. The young ladies who demonstrated so prettily the value of practical and aesthetic gymnastics were all graduates, the class including Ella Sutherland, Louise Merrill, Eureka Kimball, Gladys Nicholson, Alice Crawford, May Merrill, Lucy Biglow, Mary Buckmaster and Elsie Fathers.

The Interurban Road
A practical and interesting thesis on "The Interurban Electric Road" was given by Cora Holt. The development of the use of electricity for traveling purposes was traced, the history of the Janesville, Rockford and Delavan road was given and the advantages of interurban electric roads to the workingman and the farmer were clearly stated. Charts were used showing the construction of the road and the line of direction which it follows.

Little Wilma Soverhill played "Pastorale," an intricate fantasia, so exquisitely that the talented little violinist was compelled to respond to an encore. She did so gracefully, playing a pleasing arrangement of "Swanee River."

Some Beautiful Views
A thesis with which the audience was especially delighted was the one on "Religious Art" by Maud J. Nicholson. This thesis was beautifully illustrated with stereopticon reproductions of Correggio's "Holy City," Titian's "Assumption of the Virgin," Ruben's "Descent from the Cross," Raphael's "Transfiguration and The Last Supper" by Leonardo de Vinci. Each picture was described by the speaker who merited the hearty applause which followed her number. Another beautifully illustrated thesis was the one given by Gertrude Scott on "Glimpses of Yarrow Stream." Views were shown of the vicinity around Selkirk, a typical Scottish town; of Melrose Abbey, the home of Walter Scott and the burial place of Robert Bruce; of Dryburgh Abbey, the burial place of Sir Walter Scott and his lady. Miss Scott spoke beautifully of the three poets whose names are associated with the picturesque stream in Scotland, William Wordsworth, Sir Walter Scott and James Hogg.

Emma Sater, in a very pleasing manner, presented the subject of "Traveling Libraries," emphasizing their value in educating the public who cannot be reached by school and public libraries. The movement was started in Wisconsin by Hon. J. H. Stout, a trustee of the Mabel Tainter Memorial Library in Menomonee who noticed that the farmers of Dunn county drew very few books. Miss Sater traced the rapid growth of the movement and spoke feelingly of the demand for these libraries in isolated communities.

For Better Conditions
A piano solo, brilliantly played by Mrs. J. F. Sweeney, was followed by an excellent thesis on "The Beautifying of Cities" by Blanche E. Casson. She spoke of the value of the city improvement plan because it tends to the moral betterment of the community. Ill kept lawns, tumble down buildings, unsanitary and filthy alleys and immoral posters were scored and the citizens urged to a higher civic pride. Some splendid views were displayed, showing the difference in the factory and houses of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, O., before and after they were decorated with vines and shrubbery.

Margaret J. Cochrane's logical thesis on "The Adulteration of Food and Pure Food Laws" was a vigorous denunciation of the practice of selling impure foods. Blame was not placed on the merchants, but upon the consumers who demand goods at the very lowest prices. The danger lying in the use of salicylic acid, formaldehyde and other preservatives was shown and the people urged to encourage honest manufacturers by being willing to pay honest prices. The best laws for pure foods are found in England. A plea was made for the formation of pure food societies and for national laws to protect the purity of food.

Two Practical Talks
"The Thought Element in Manual Training" was ably presented by Ross Knox who in a concise manner showed that the development of the brain is assisted by the training of the hand. Manual training does not repeat old work but requires new construction. Thought must precede the work. Diagrams of different joints, a part of the work of the Freshman year in wood construction, were shown illustrating the development of thought in the increased excellence of the work.

The final thesis of the evening was one of the best. The subject was "The Nernst Lamp" and the interesting speaker was Edwin Sanders. He explained that all artificial light comes from an incandescent solid or an incandescent gas. Ordinary lights are produced by heating particles of some substance to incandescence. The Welshbach light was a great stride toward the perfect light, the combustion being nearly complete. The latest invention, the Nernst incandescent light nearly approaches the ideal light. An illustration of the brilliancy of the Nernst light was given.

The program of the evening closed with a medley of national airs played by the Soverhill sisters, a chorus joining with them in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

REVOLUTION IN GAS MACHINES

Cleveland Man's Invention Generates Natural Gas for Cook Stoves—On Exhibition Here.

The writer yesterday saw a new invention, which, when introduced, cannot help but revolutionize the methods of heating cook and other stoves. It is the Champion oil burner, exhibited by Mr. Densmore of the Cleveland company, and what it will do is surprising. The principle of this burner is that common kerosene or coal oil is converted into gas; the oil is placed in a large can, which may be stationed a dozen or a hundred feet away from the stove. The oil is carried through a small rolled pipe to the burner which is set in the fire box and first heated and then as fast as the oil flows it is converted into gas which mixes with 30 per cent of air and 10 per cent of carbon gas, passing through the burner and producing a long super-heated, blue flame of intense heat, free from smoke and odor as well as free from dust and ashes arising from the use of wood or coal.

Mr. Densmore is located in Grubb's block on West Milwaukee street, for a few days, representing the Champion Oil Burner company, Cleveland, O., where he will be glad to exhibit the invention to any one. It may be put in any stove without changing or damaging the latter in the least, and after it is in will heat the largest cook stove or range, sufficiently for family cooking for less than $1.50 per month. Wood and coal during the hot weather in Janesville are too expensive for the average housewife to burn. Oil is the best substitute, as it has the advantage of wood, coal or illuminating gas, especially the great advantage of economy with none of the disadvantages of wood or coal and just what is needed for comfort and efficiency. The company is soon to put the burner in the hands of agents who will retail them for about $14 apiece. To get them started in this vicinity one may buy of the manufacturer, free on board cars at Cleveland, for half that sum for the next few days, during which time an agent will be appointed. Whether one wishes to buy or not, it is worth while to visit the store to see this ingenious invention. Ladies are especially invited. Open evenings.

THE SAME KIND.
The Living Church makes this quotation from a Connecticut woman's diary, dated 1790: "We had roast pork for dinner, and Dr. S., who carried held up a rib on his fork, and said, 'Here ladies is what Mother Eve was made of.' 'Yes,' said Sister Patty, 'and it is from very much the same kind of critter.'"

A novel feeling of leaping bounding impulses goes through our body. You feel young, act young and are young after taking Rocky Mountain Tea. 35 cents. Smiths' Pharmacy.

JAMES O'DONNELL WINS GOLD MEDAL

Cora Holt Ranks Second in the Contest for History Prizes Given by the D. A. R.

James O'Donnell, of the Washington school is the proud owner of the gold medal offered by the Janesville Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution to the eighth grade pupil earning the highest standing in United States history. Miss Cora Holt of the Adams school ranked second winning the beautiful solid silver spoon also given by the Daughters. The presentation of the prizes was made at the high school building last evening in connection with the commencement exercises.

Ever since the organization of the local chapter of the D. A. R., some method has been employed to foster patriotism in public schools. At first cash prizes were given for the best historical essays but a year ago the chapter decided to give the prizes for the historical work done by the students in the class room, a medal being given instead of money.

The winner is determined upon by a competitive examination to which each eighth grade in the city sends the pupil who has ranked first for the year.

There are four eighth grades which gave four contestants in the final examination.

This examination was given last Monday at the high school building by Supt. H. C. Buell and the papers were marked by Supt. Buell and Prof. William Norris for history and by Miss Gertrude Zehner for English, thus giving two points for history and one point for English. Master O'Donnell received an average of 83 1/3, his paper showing broad historical knowledge acquired by extensive reading and being marked first in English. Miss Holt was a close competitor, her average being 83.

The Washington school is very proud of Master O'Donnell's victory especially as Miss Ruth Efield, the medal winner of last year, was also a representative of that school.

The Madison Medicine Co. owns the exclusive right to manufacture Rocky Mountain Tea. Tea sold which is not made by us, is a deception. Never sold in bulk. Always packages at 35c. Smiths' Pharmacy.

Appendicitis.
About the 1st of September, last, Mr. O. experienced an attack of what M. D. termed appendicitis. After commencing to recover he was about three weeks getting on his feet, and at no time, up to December 19th, when he had a second and much more severe attack, was he free from pain and soreness in the right iliac. During second attack, patient was regularly attended by an M. D. Finally two other M. D.'s were called for consultation and the usual decision, "only an operation can get you out of bed," was rendered. Osteopathy was suggested. Two M. D.'s said, "It is no use." One, a lady, said, "It might be well to try." Osteopathy was tried. I reached the patient about 7 o'clock Christmas night, found him suffering intensely and soon discovered that all the characteristic symptoms of appendicitis were present. Treatments were given with short intermittent periods of rest for about two hours. The obstruction was removed and a slight passage brought about. From that moment improvement was rapid. Only three treatments were given to effect a complete cure.—T. P. Weir, D. O., Winterset, Iowa.

John Clifcorn went to Gladbrook, Ia., this morning to visit friends and relatives in his former home.

WILL WISCONSIN WIN THE RACES

Expectations for Record-Breaking Time at the Poughkeepsie Regatta by the Badger Crews.

Madison, Wis., June 12.—Saturday the Wisconsin varsity crew will leave for the east for the fifth time, and the sentiment of the crew and the students is, "Wisconsin will win now or never." Never before has there been so close competition for places on the crew and the rigorous course of training adopted by Coach A. J. J. this year should give the men endurance to win if they have the other qualities necessary. With two exceptions every man in the boat has had experience in one of the great races in the east and the two who have not have displaced men who have. This fact tends to show that the Badger eight will be the strongest that ever represented the university. Four times the crews have gone east and have come as near winning as it is possible for a crew to do and lose. In 1898 the eight landed a second to Pennsylvania and Cornell, leading Cornell to hear the finish and barely losing out. The following year, "the berry crate" the race was won until the unfortunate occurrence deprived the men of the victory. The next year, the race would have been without interest had it not been for the heart-breaking finish between Pennsylvania and Wisconsin, the former winning by a scant quarter of a length. Last year the crew finished third in the fastest four-mile race ever rowed on the Hudson.

Last Week of Practice
So this year it seems as if it should be Wisconsin's year. The men feel it and recognize the fact that if they ever win the race they have a right to expect to win this year. They have worked hard and conscientiously and are in a fit condition for the contest. The men are through with their examinations, through a special permit of the faculty, and from now until the time of the race they will have nothing to do but row. Before breakfast they go for a short walk. At 11 they have a hard row, and again at 5 they take to the shells and work themselves out. This week will be spent in raising the stroke to racing form, practicing starts and responding to spurts, and otherwise getting into good condition for the race. The excessive hard work and the vigorous training will put a crew into the race which is stronger and faster than any which has previously represented the institution.

Personnel of Crew
The personnel of the crew (shows that it has the experience and other requisites needed. At stroke is Earl V. McComb, 64, who last year made the unprecedented record of stroking the varsity in the first year of his rowing. He has splendid form and blade work and has the power to place the stroke where it is wanted and hold it there. He is 19 years old, weighs 170 and is 6 feet 1 inch in height.

Capt. C. H. Gaffin is at No. 7. This year he has both. Gaffin is the hardest and most conscientious worker in the boat and pulls a strong oar. His form is excellent and no one has ever expressed any doubts as to his ability. He is 22 years old, 6 feet, 1 inch in height and weighs 173. He rowed 5 in the victorious '03 boat.

"Pa" Jordan is at 6. Last year was his first at the work. He sat at No. 6 in the race last year and with Capt. Gaffin this year bears the distinction of being the only man who has not been in the second crew. He stands 5 feet, 11 inches high, weighs 172 and is 23 years old.

William Gibson, '03, the "old man" of the crew, sits at No. 5. He is the biggest man who has ever rowed at Wisconsin and his great strength helps the boat along wonderfully. He is 6 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 188 pounds and is 25 years old. He has rowed at No. 5 for the past three years and his experience will aid the men wonderfully.

Robert G. Stevenson, '03 is at No. 4 and has more endurance than any other man in the boat. He is exceptionally well muscled and the fact that he has good form is shown by the fact that he was tried at stroke for the first part of the season. He is 24 years old, weighs 171 and is 5 feet and 10 inches tall. He rowed No. 6 in last year's race and was at No. 4 in the victorious '03 boat which won in the east in 1900.

I. Mather, '03, is at No. 3. He rowed in the '99 crew at No. 3 and was a member of the crack '01 crew as a freshman. He is 6 feet, 2 inches tall and weighs 174 pounds. He has a great deal of endurance and good form.

G. S. Steere, '02, will row at No. 2. He has lots of strength but is also inclined to rush forward too quickly. He is 5 feet, 10 1/2 inches tall, weighs 165 and is 22 years old.

"Bill" Moffatt, '02, is at the bow. He was captain of and rowed at No. 7 in the '02 freshman eight. He is 22 years old, weighs 166 and is 5 feet 11 inches in height.

J. F. Sawyer is in the coxswain's seat. He is 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighs 101 pounds and is 21 years old. He also pulled the ropes in last year's race and also for the '03 crew in the eastern race. He is the best coxswain the varsity has had since Randall sat there.

FLAG DAY COMES NEXT SATURDAY

The Stars and Stripes Will Be Flung to the Breeze from Sea to Sea.

Next Saturday will be the Flag Day, the anniversary of that memorable fourteenth of June, 1777, when Congress enacted: "That the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

Since that time the beautiful banner of liberty has acquired new meaning and a deeper sanctity from each baptism of blood which it has received. In 1897 the American Flag Association was formed of flag committees from veteran, military, patriotic and historical societies and also of patriotic citizens, the object of the association being to promote reverence for and prevent the desecration of the stars and stripes.

This association urges a general observance of flag day. The plan is to have the flag fly from sunrise to sunset on every church, school and public building and from every private dwelling throughout the entire land. The extension of the practice of holding appropriate exercises in the schools is urged and every citizen is requested to take part in the day's celebration.

G. A. R. Order Issued
The movement of the American Flag Association is seconded by the Grand Army of the Republic and the following order has been issued by W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R. "General Order No. 2—Saturday, June 14th, 1902, having been designated as Flag Day, the flag at Post Hall will be hoisted at sunrise and remain until sundown. It is desired that all public buildings, places of business and private residences display flags. By order,
J. L. BEAR, Post Commander.
J. G. WRAY, Post Adjutant."

ZAHRN-BAUMANN
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Zahn, 915 North Second street, Watertown, there was solemnized last evening the marriage of their daughter, Miss Emma Zahn and Edward C. Baumann, of this city. Rev. Eggers, pastor of the Watertown German Lutheran church, performing the ceremony.

The bridal attendants were Miss Martha Zahn, of Watertown, Miss Lizzie Berger, of Janesville, Edvard Zahn, of Watertown and Arthur Baumann of Janesville. The ring bearer was Lulu Zwick, of Merrill.

The ceremony was followed by an elaborate wedding supper after which Mr. Baumann and his bride left for Milwaukee where they will spend a few days. On their return to this city they will make their home at 14 North Main street.

Sell Horses and Cattle for the Big Horn Country in Wyoming.

Alex. Donaldson, superintendent of the Big Horn stock farm, located near Sheridan, Wyoming, and owned by Forbes Bros., of Boston, left here last night with a carload of Clydesdales and a car of cattle.

In the horse car were nine mares and one Clydesdale stallion. The mares were purchased of Alexander Galbraith and McElay Brothers, and the stallion, "The Shepherd," from Galbraith.

Also Some Cattle
The cattle car was loaded with ten cows and a bull. Part of the cows came from McElay Bros.' farm and the bull and the balance of the cows were purchased of Charles Clark of Whitewater. Forbes Bros. have an immense ranch at Sheridan and are trying the experiment of raising Clydes on the range.

The mares are all fine individuals and the stallion is an imported horse. The stock will be taken through on the fast freight and given a quick run to Sheridan. They were loaded in palace stock cars and carry several days' supply of water in the tanks, so that they can be rushed through without stopping for water.

MONEY SAVING OPPORTUNITY
East Side Clothing Firm Inaugurates
A Most Novel Plan

Commencing today the East Side clothing firm of T. J. Ziegler inaugurates a most novel plan that will undoubtedly result in the sale of their entire stock of odds and ends suits. Each day this enterprising firm will display in front of their store a number of odds and ends of high grade suits that earlier in the season sold at double the price that they are now marked. Manager E. J. Smith said to a Gazette man today:

"We would rather cut the price one-half on these suits now and lose money than to carry them over next year. If a man can get his size he will save at least 50 per cent. These suits we will display in front of our store with the price attached. We do this so that the public can see for themselves just what we have to offer in the way of genuine bargains. No suit will be displayed but what would be a bargain at twice the price asked. We intend to have these suits six days in the week during the entire month of June."

KICKED IN HEAD BY VICIOUS COLT

Walter Shoemaker Has His Scalp
Laid Wide Open Just Above
His Eyes.

Walter Shoemaker, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. William Shoemaker, met with a serious accident yesterday, being kicked in the head by a young colt. The front of the scalp was laid back in ghastly manner and the fortunate escape of the young man's eyes from injury was so narrow as to be almost miraculous.

The accident occurred near the farm home of the young man's parents who reside about four miles north of this city in the town of Janesville. Walter was driving a young colt when the animal struck out viciously with his heels. One hoof caught the young man squarely in the forehead cutting through the scalp across the eyelids, just above the eyeballs. The bone at the bridge of the nose was scraped, but not broken. The cut in the scalp was an ugly one being four by five inches, the loosened section being turned backward.

Dr. E. F. Woods was hastily summoned from the city and cared for the wounded boy, who suffered intense pain. Young Shoemaker will doubtless carry an ugly scar through life, but he is very fortunate to have escaped with his eyesight and with no more serious injury.

KILL CABLE BILL.

House Strikes Out the Enacting Clause of the Corliss Measure.

Washington, June 12.—The house struck out the enacting clause of the Corliss Pacific cable bill by a vote of 116 to 77. This action, which is equivalent to killing the bill, gave no opportunity to test the strength of the Dailzell substitute, which authorized the President to contract with a private company for the laying of a cable. After Mr. Corliss had again spoken in favor of the measure Mr. Richardson of Alabama spoke against it on the ground of economy, declaring that the appropriations for the next fiscal year already exceeded the estimated revenues by $51,000,000. He also urged that the possibilities in the development of wireless telegraphy made it inadvisable at this time to spend millions of dollars for a submarine cable which in a few years might be valueless.

Mr. Newlands of Nevada defended John W. Mackay, president of the Commercial Cable company, from the aspersions cast on him. Instead of being a monopolist, he said, Mr. Mackay had entered a contest on the sea against the great Atlantic cable monopoly, and on land against the Gould telegraph system. He also had built the Hayti cable, the control of which was surrendered to the United States during the Spanish war. In the same way, he said, the cable to be built to the Philippines also would be at the service of the government in time of emergency.

Mr. Loud of California opposed the bill on the ground that government operation of telegraph systems in Europe was not a success. Since 1872 England had lost about $35,000,000 in the operation of her telegraph system. Messrs. Shackelford of Missouri, Mann of Illinois and Tompkins spoke for the bill and Cannon of Illinois and Loud of California against it.

CANAL VOTE JUNE 19.

Senators Agree to Take Final Action on That Date.

Washington, June 12.—The Senate has agreed to vote finally on the Nicaragua canal bill and all pending amendments on Thursday, June 19. Mr. Fairbanks of Indiana spoke in favor of the Panama route. He said he originally had favored the Nicaragua route, but an investigation of the subject, coupled with the determination of the Isthmian commission, had induced him to change his mind in favor of the Panama route. He argued that that route not only would be cheaper in the first instance, but cheaper in the operation after the canal was constructed. He earnestly favored the construction of the canal and resented the intimation that those who favored the Panama route were in the least opposed to a canal.

He thought the construction of a canal by the Panama route would mean saving of $70,500,000, and said it would cost $1,300,000 loss annually to operate the Panama than to operate the Nicaragua route. He said there was no doubt about the power of the French company to convey to the United States a good title. He suggested that the cost of the work would be distributed over a reasonable number of years by the issue of bonds so that it may be lightly borne.

CUBAN RECIPROCITY.

President Announces That He Will Veto a Rebate Measure.

Washington, June 12.—The conference between the two factions of the Republican senators over Cuban reciprocity continues, but without result. Senator Aldrich, who is one of the managers for the reciprocity proposition, said the matter was not settled. The opposition still maintains confidence that a straight reciprocity proposition cannot pass, and that if the bill is reported from the committee it will be amended in such a way as to prevent its final adoption.

President Roosevelt has removed all uncertainty as to his attitude on the Cuban rebate proposition by frankly telling the friends of reciprocity that he would veto a rebate bill as soon as it reached him. This news has astonished the "boxers" in the senate, who have been made to realize that it is a question of reciprocity or no relief for Cuba whatever, and a question of standing by the administration or becoming party bolters. This has had a tendency to sharpen the issue and brings it nearer to a test.

ILLINOIS WAR CLAIMS.

Interest Swells the Original Sum to Over $1,000,000.

Washington, June 12.—The secretary of the treasury submitted to congress the claims of the state of Illinois covering a period from 1861 to 1880, amounting to $1,005,129.29, which have been allowed by the auditor of the war department. Of the amount allowed Illinois, the secretary explains in his official communication, $774,560.28 was found due by the comptroller of the treasury for discount and interest on loans from July 1, 1861, to July 1, 1867, in his decision of June 4, 1902, and the additional amount of $230,569.01 was found by the auditor for the war department for interest from July 1, 1867, to July 1, 1880, under the decisions of the comptroller of April 14, 1902, and June 4, 1902.

Philippine Debate.

Washington, June 12.—The Philippines bill will be taken up in the house on the 17th and debated five days, the first three being given to general debate and the last two to debate under the five-minute rule. The committee on rules is bringing pressure upon the insular committee to induce it to report the senate Philippines bill and perfect it by amendments in committee of the whole, rather than report the house bill as a substitute. The insular committee is obdurate, however, and gives no indication of yielding to the advice of the house leaders.

Senatorial Elections.

Washington, June 12.—Mr. Wellington of Maryland moved to discharge the Senate committee on privileges and elections from further consideration of the resolution providing for the submission of an amendment to the constitution for the election of senators by the people. The motion was defeated, 21 to 35, after a sharp debate, in which Messrs. Vest of Missouri, and Berry of Arkansas were the principal speakers.

Miss Sigbee Marries.

Washington, June 12.—Miss Ethel Sigbee, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Charles D. Sigbee, and Robert T. Small were married in Washington. The groom is the son of Rev. Samuel W. Small, associate editor of the Atlanta Constitution, and is a reporter on the Washington Evening Star. The father of the bride commanded the Maine at the time it was blown up in Havana harbor.
